

Love was never easy

Love is like walking,
sometimes you walk faster
sometimes you walk farther
but you're never standing.

Often you may think,
"maybe I am the problem"
but that's what you see,
'cause people around you
could say that's not real.

There was this guy,
who promised me the sky.
Now he's with another boy
teaching him how to fly.

I know you weren't ready
but I feel betrayed.
I won't confess that I waited,
but I'm left on the shelf.

I've never been natural,
all I do is try, try, try,
I tried to be what you expected
but I could never reach your ideal.

I was so ahead of the curve
but the curve became a sphere,
now I'm turning to you
knowing you won't be here.

I guess I'll sink forever,
I'm sailing in the uncertainty sea.
I hope someday I'll find someone who can love me.

And this is our last dance,
I'm waving goodbye.
I would have been faster
like the blink of an eye.